COMMENTARY

The Personal Trust Managed Fund delivered a positive return of 4.85% this quarter. This was behind the benchmark, primarily due to being underweight Resources and Equities relative to the benchmark. The miners had a fantastic quarter, gold, platinum and base metal shares leading the way. For retired money we only invest in the diversified miners as direct mine exposure is too risky in our view.

We did own the following great performers this quarter:

Anglos	+34.4%
BHP Billiton	+22.9%
Glencor	+10.8%

Banks had a better quarter on the back of declining bond yields, Standard Bank +9.8% while some of the Rand hedge Industrials bounced back - Richemont +20%, British American Tobacco +5.5%, Bidcorp +13.3% and Naspers +8.1%.

All risk assets outperformed cash this quarter, driven by the decline in global bond yields. This resulted in positive returns across the board with emerging market equities leading the way.
